POLICE COURT CASE

A case was brought up at police court on Tuesday afternoon, by Const. Valk, R. C. M. P. of Crossfield, between Mr. A. G. Teynor and Mr. P. R. Guenther. I. P. Hartmann of Olds and Member of Didsbury sat on the case. Mr. Teynor of Olds acted as lawyer for the defendant. It seems that in order to satisfy a small debt, Mr. Teynor had taken 250 bundles of greenfeed from the sealed barn of Mr. Guenther during his absence, and had failed to tell Mr. Guenther personally or ask his permission to do so. He had however, told Mr. A. Thompson, a neighbor of Mr. Guenther's, who with Mr. D. McEwen acted as witnesses for the complainant that he was taking this greenfeed and to tell Mr. Guenther. There had been considerable business transacted between the two men up to the time of the trouble and they had been on very good terms so that Mr. Teynor evidently did not understand the trouble he was laying himself open to. He was found guilty and sentenced to a fine of $10 to be paid to the complainant and costs of the court.

Begin At Home

In this column last week approval was expressed of the announced intention of the Minister of the Interior to have legislation introduced at the next session of Parliament making provision for the granting of extra homesteads to men whose present holdings had been found to be unsuitable for successful agricultural operations. At the same time the opinion was expressed that the policy now proposed to be followed in the case of these homesteaders should be extended to include other farmers located on lands found to be unsuitable for farming.

The Canada Colonization Association has embarked on a comprehensive scheme of land settlement and has adopted as its objective the settlement of one million people in Canada in ten years. One of the cardinal features of its plan is to make careful selection of the land upon which these settlers are placed, and to keep close watch of their progress with a view to assisting them to succeed. To that end it is proposed to establish local continuity clubs to care for, assist, and extend a helping hand and friendly advice to these new settlers. Should it be found that from causes over which the settler has no control, he is not succeeding, and cannot succeed, in his chosen location, then, rather than have him fail and leave the country, he is to be assisted to locate elsewhere in Canada where he can succeed.

It is to be good policy, however, as settlers yet to come and concerned—and who questions its wisdom?—then it is not equally good policy to apply to people already here and who are not making a success in their present locations?

There are thousands of farmers who, after years of effort, are reluctantly forced to the conclusion that they must quit the soil, and fix a new location. If, instead of at once beginning to encourage people to come to Canada from other lands, the Canada Colonization Association devoted its efforts for the first year to finding out farmers who are in this predicament, and assisting them to new locations, in these Western Provinces where they can make it, success, that Association would be doing a splendid stroke of business for Canada, would establish the confidence of all people in its programme and policy, and would lay the foundation for future years of successful operation in the erigence in and locating of new settlers.

Settlers already here, but who have not made a success of farming because of conditions absolutely beyond their control, are the very type this country needs and can ill afford to lose. These men have courage. They are hard workers. They are ambitious, and have year after year striven to make good. It is through no fault of their own, that success has not attended their efforts. The Canada Colonization Association, therefore, can hardly do better than apply to these men the very policy they propose to apply to all new settlers coming into Canada under their auspices.

There are, admittedly, difficulties to be overcome. Many of these men are heavily in debt. Mortgage has been piled on mortgage on the unsuitable lands they now occupy and are attempting to leave. Holders of these mortgages may be averse to seeing them move away. But inasmuch as these little hope of success attending their efforts if they remain, and are, therefore, the mortgage companies would have to take a loss in any event, would it not be the part of wisdom to confer with such mortgage holders now and reach a settlement under which these people could be moved to new locations within the Dominion? Moved elsewhere, and success attending their efforts, most of them would gradually discharge their obligations which under present conditions there is slight hope of ever being done. Again, located under more favorable circumstances these people would become creditable clients for investors of money which would be used to develop lands capable of earning the interest charges and ultimately paying off principal. As it now is these men cannot earn the interest, let alone see any prospect of ever paying off the principal indebtedness.

Any consideration of a sound and permanent immigration and settlement policy for Canada which does not take into account the needs of these distressed settlers is not a sound nor complete policy because it would overlook the basic idea on which successful settlement must rest.

The Canada Colonization Association has a splendid opportunity to put its proposed policy to practical test without any large expenditure of money. It will not call for any expenditures for publicity purposes, yet by making contented and successful farmers out of many who have not yet tasted the sweets of success, it will prove to be the most valuable kind of publicity for all its future work and effort in inducing others to settle in Canada.

Australia's Poet Dies Penniless

People Recognized His Genius When It Was Too Late

They gave Henry Harrison Lawson, the Australian poet and novelist, a state funeral in Sydney. Despatches described it as an "imposing affair, fitting the occasion of the laying away of the nation's sweet singer," and there was due homage from the world at large to this splendid recognition of a poet's worth—when he was dead.

While he was alive, however, poet Lawson did not fare so well. Australia's greatest minister," as he was called at the time of the funeral, died penniless. Indeed, it had not been for the public funeral under Government auspices he would have been buried as a pauper. He had been in receipt of a small pension from the Government for some time before his death, and this should be ascribed to the State of New South Wales with proper appreciation, for was it not virtually a pioneer in the generous act of pensioning a poet? Still, Lawson lived in poverty. The people did not realize that they had a genius in their country until he was laid away with "funeral trappings" befitting Government recognition. Then they began to buy his books.

Poor as he was, poet Lawson left a will. All his worldly belongings were mentioned in bequests. These were: Two suits of clothes, an overcoat, a necktie, a collar stud, a pen, a pipe, a tin matchbox, a note or two of a walking stick, and two packets of tobacco.

Less Coal Mined

Canadian Coal Output Is Below the Average Record

The output of coal from Canadian mines during the month of July, 1922, increased approximately 17,000 tons or 6 per cent above the production for the preceding month, and amounted to 335,000 tons. But in spite of this increase the output fell short of the average record for the same month in the three preceding years by 262,000 tons, or 19 per cent, according to a statement issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. Considered in relation to the three-year average for the first seven months of the calendar year, the output this year was less by 1,122,000 tons, or 14 per cent.

Imports of coal in July, destined principally from the overseas, reported for June 18, amounted in all to 117,000 net tons, 12 per cent below the record on the preceding month.

There was considerable revival in the export trade and a total of 242,000 tons was cleared for foreign destinations, as compared with 20,000 tons in the preceding month.

Ninety New School Districts Organized in Saskatchewan Last Year

Ninety new school districts were organized in Saskatchewan last year, making a total of 4,180 districts in existence. Of these 4,285 were in operation despite the severe financial condition general all over the province. Figures for the year indicate a remarkable increase in the aggregate attendance, which totalled 175,000. It is estimated that the excess of assets over liabilities of all the districts in the province is approximately $14,000,000.

Where Farming Pays

One of the heaviest crops reported so far this year in Saskatchewan has been threshed by J. H. Jordan, farmer in the Grace district. He secured 11,278 bushels of wheat of 219 acres of summerfallow. The wheat graded No. 1, and weighed 65 pounds to the bushel. The average yield was 52 1/2 bushels an acre.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 22

An agitation has been started by several organizations lately for Bible reading in the public schools and as this is a most vital question to the welfare of the children it must be stated that every pressure should be brought to bear on the educational authorities of Alberta to include this in the daily exercises of the schools. The idea is that no comment should be made but strict adherence to Bible reading at some period should be carried out. An editorial in a recent issue of the Calgary Herald places the matter so plainly before the people that we publish it in full as follows:

The astonishing thing about the new campaign for Bible reading in the schools is not that it is under way but that it is necessary.

We speak of this as the year of our Lord, 1922, in the Christian era, and in this year, we, Christian people, do not allow our children to hear the Lord's Prayer or any of the other words of the Bible in the public schools.

The conflicts of theology may exist and multiply, but the main concern of the people of Alberta, who profess to be Christian men and women, who at least believe in the teachings of Christianity, is with the fundamental truths which they have in common. Of these truths which are the property of all Christian people we learn from the Bible. We open the sessions of our legislature with prayer, giving that acknowledgement that this is a Christian province, but we refuse to permit our state schools to recognize what we believe is the Word of God. The State takes charge of the children of Alberta during their school years and in the hours they are at school is responsible for the training they get. In those formative years this province declines to acquaint them with any of the words of the Bible.

We profess astonishment when Trotsky's Russia launches Christian teaching from Russia. Why be astonished at Russia? There is enough cause for amazement in Alberta.

The world is so full of trouble with conflicts of all kinds and numbers of people everywhere who scarcely know how to live. Perhaps we have got too far away from what is honest, and logical, and straightforward, and courageous. The Bible might not hurt this generation a bit. Our former government, while striving to establish a better type of government than we have ever had before, should be bold enough to say that the Bible may be read to the children of Alberta. Or its members should be forced by a powerful public demand to the point of openly declaring themselves against the reading of the Bible in the schools of this professedly Christian province.

A PROTEST

The Editor,
Dear Sir:

The Chautauqua has been welcomed by Christian people because of its wholesome entertainment and its educational and inspiring features. This year's program, however, sounded a note that must estrange evangelical Christians of real conviction, if it is retained, to refer to certain phases of the lecture "The Nearness of God."

Dr. Carpenter rendered a real service in his able presentation of the marvels of the universe, and his arguments therefrom to prove the existence of a Supreme Being. We rejoice in all he light which a study of the universe and of nature furnish us as to the majesty and might of God. But some of us believe that the light of nature only partially reveals God and must give way before the clearer light of revelation contained in Scripture. However if the views of the reliability of the Bible are correct, then the light of revelation is very full and unerring. The proclamation from a Chautauqua platform of this kind and choice method of handling Scripture must alienate the sympathies of those who consider the Book reliable and authoritative.

To picture the teachings of his childhood—which presumably were those of evangelical Christianity—as making God appear a fearful monster of as a guard of a batch of prisoners is an uncalled for travesty upon the historic faith of evangelical bodies.

Lastly, in his outline of the means of obtaining an experimental knowledge of God, the absence of any reference to Christ, repentance or faith and the substitution therefore of inner light, psychic sense, relaxation of nerves, etc., sounds strange to the average Christian. It leads one to ponder Paul's mention of "another gospel which is not another."

With all due respect to Dr. Carpenter, who is entitled to his own opinions, the fact remains that he stood upon the Chautauqua platform, an exponent of modern religious liberalism—made the more insidious by his ability as a speaker and his utterance of some excellent things. Should this element continue in future programs it must inevitably result in the alienation of many Christians who wish to wholeheartedly support the institution because of its many merits.

Yours truly,

J. E. HARRIS.

The famous Hall was adorned with many beautiful paintings, and the President of the little college was called upon to respond to a toast. Desiring to compliment the ladies present, he designated the paintings with an eloquent gesture and said:

THE THINGS THAT MATTER

When a fellow's gettin' old An' his tale is mostly told, When he knows life has in store At the best a few years more, That he isn't going to find Any mine of gold, or claim Special notices from fame, Then he gets in closer touch With the things that matter much.

Youth looks over far away To some other better day That is always going to be, When he'll gain the victory, Then he's always got his eyes On some glittering future prize Which he fancies he may win Spite of all his blunderin'. Tellin' all along the way He'll do something big some day.

But the champions are few An' the dreams, by an' by, See things with a clearer eye An' discover not to all Can the pomp of glory fall: Most of us must settle down Findin' peace without renown, Glad that we can come and go Loved by those God lets us know.

When a fellow's gettin' old An' his tale is mostly told, An' the fame he dreamed about From his life has faded out, Then he finds that friends are more Than the gold he hungered for.

NEW RATE FOR CREAM SHIPPERS

As a result of action taken before the Board of Railway Commissioners of Canada by Alfred Chard, freight supervisor for the provincial government, in behalf of the Alberta Dairymen's Association, a new rate has been established by the express companies for three-gallon cans. Previously the minimum insisted upon by the express companies was a five-gallon can. Under the new arrangement three-gallon cans will be accepted, and this will be of much benefit to small shippers. The rate established is 83 1/3 per cent. of the rate for five-gallon cans. While the schedule applies to the National Railways and the C. P. R., the same proportionate reduction will be put into effect on the railways north of Edmonton. The schedule is as follows:

Not over	25 miles	45 cents
	50 "	18 "
	75 "	22 "
	100 "	26 "
	150 "	31 "
	200 "	32 "
	250 "	36 "
	300 "	38 "
	350 "	40 "
	400 "	41 "

Capacity cans must be legibly marked on the can with not less than one inch figures. Cans must not be more than 16 inches high nor less than 10 inches in diameter at the bottom. The bottom of the three-gallon can must be so constructed as to permit piling on top of other cans.

The greatest interest has been stirred up by this contest in all parts of Canada and thousands of children's manuscripts are reaching the offices of the Canadian Forestry Association at Ottawa. Copies of the competition

Bar B Ranch,

December 14, 19—

I am homesick, homesick, HOME SICK, and only my pillow, together with a feeling of affection towards Mrs. Bingham, keep me from telegraphing for a berth on the next boat. If I were in peace, I could go to my room I could be home in time for Christmas. That wretched scurvy fever seems to have faded by all its strength of mind, and it is only by filling every moment with employment that I can allow my mind to rest in its loneliness. The home letters are full of Christmas plans, and it is almost more than I can bear. Another reason me to come home, and I can read between the lines that all my old friends are growing older. I was ill. But I will not go, there is really no reason, beyond that of self-indulgence, why I should not, and I do not approve of self-indulgence.

Mrs. Bingham will watch over me professionally. I am, not growing strong as quickly as she would like, so she insists upon giving me a tonic. According to the strap on the left, the tonic is the nutritive contents of the blood or beer. At first I thought that I consumed principally of a clever combination of hot basses, but it is again evident to me that I should not be again convinced to the fact I found that it contained the following ingredients:—sodium chloride, sodium chloride, and potassium bicarbonate. It is all water, has no salt moving in their veins. It is no wonder that even the mild deliriousness sometimes takes the milking bull over.

We have been to the Agency, to Paper Pass, and to the Chapel farm within the last month, and we have had a great deal of company here. I do not care for any more. I just want to go home. The Carrolls have a stroke of luck, while I was ill a business partner. Mr. Carroll's died very suddenly for them and left them enough money to keep them in comfort at home. Mrs. Carroll was lately turning over with lupul leaves when she came to my bedside to see. The will from New York is in the mail.

I have written most letters since last Sunday, and left a dozen or so ready to be written today. My Christmas shopping was continuous to my absence. The year I set each of the home-boys a task of needed things. Mrs. Bingham made to Ellen Prince of Waterbury and to Mrs. McMorris to buy presents in Winnipeg for my Canadian friends. Mary Jones is deep, even in her absence she I have not been to Canyon City since I was ill, and I did not like to trouble Mrs. Bingham to get any thing for me when she went into town. I do not suppose I should have been able to get what I wanted in or about a place, anyway.

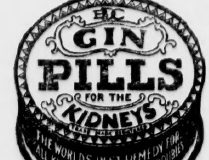

Mr. Livingston has been away for nearly two weeks. He went to Elba to attend the marriage of his eldest brother, the one who manages the farm. At present this back tomorrow or the next day.

Bar B Ranch,

December 27, 19—

I greatly fear that I do not do, the many other things, is about to become a thing of bits and shreds. Either I am too busy to write, or have nothing to write about. However, my book is almost full. I certainly found enough to write about when everything was new and strange, and no doubt I shall find it interesting reading when I am able to be copied and respected old lady.

I am not nearly so homesick as I was a few weeks ago, although I will wake in the morning with a very vivid recollection of the size of the earth. I interested in a nice little city, my nine inches in diameter, would William seem any closer to the far shore? I wonder? (I wish the parties who object to the use of "wonder" in this connection would provide an unoffending substitute.) Thus before I have rubbed the sleep out of my eyes a voice comes from the other side of the room, "Oh, Elliot, is it time to get up already?" and the door is immediately flung open at once to whom the voice belongs, so why should I try to be mysterious simply to what the curiosity of a possible but impossible reader?

A week ago today Mrs. Bingham and Mr. Livingston went to Canyon City "to bring out the Christmas mail." Sunny and I were sitting in the firelight when they came home just at dusk. Sunny busy chattering about the probable nature of Santa Claus' load, and I pretending to listen with my hands behind my ears, of course away. It was very windy, so windy that we could not hear anything outside the house, and the door had returned until someone slipped up behind me, and I was blinded by the light of a pair of cold but very big hands.

"Gness, Miss Elliot," laughed Mr. "Oh, Auntie Elmer," shouted Sunny, almost beside herself with excitement, "and you are here. We'll have a good time now, too." And for this once Mrs. Bingham let Sunny's words pass uncorrected.

I had been told by that particular pair of hands too often to be in need of their identity, but I could not get their owner's name past the bump in my throat. Mary herself, of course I was no one else—was half laughing and half crying, and saying over and over, "I wanted to come when you were sick, but I wouldn't let me, because I never had scurvy fever. And you might have died away, but I was with you, and I care whether you get better or not."

"Oh, I say, Miss Arnold, that is rather odd," objected Mr. Livingston, and when neither Mary nor I answered him, he picked Sunny up and let the room, saying in a mock trade voice, "I don't want to live, as well make ourselves scarce. Miss, Auntie Elmer doesn't want to see me." Mrs. Bingham followed them.

I lifted the gas and then turned Mary round and around to see if she had changed. She is, if anything, prettier than ever, and in her long dress and red and grey patterned jacket trimmed with pink, she made a charming picture. I laughed for the susceptible Mr. Page.

To tell the truth, the Bar B ranch, from Mr. Bingham to Lee, are all more or less susceptible to Mary's charms. The very morning after she arrived she went into the kitchen, borrowed a big spoon from Lee, and proceeded to make an immense dish of chocolate cake. Lee all the while looking on with undisguised admiration, and handing her the necessary ingredients almost before she asked for them, and with the rest of us Lee is absolute monarch in his own domain.

Then, too, Mary first discreetly with Mr. Livingston, who she sits down calling "Uncle Don." He seems to enjoy the process as much as we do, and returning the compliment by calling her "The Little One," altogether regardless of who hears him. On Christmas Eve the David son, Dr. McMorris, Mr. Page and Mrs. Marshall were here, on dinner.

NEW LAMP BURNS

94% AIR

Beats Electric or Gas

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U.S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 84 per cent. air and 6 per cent. common kerosene (condensed).

The inventor, T. V. Johnson, 578 McDermott Ave., Winnipeg, is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.

And Miss Marshall's face as she watched Mary and Mr. Livingston was a study in expression. Mary and I went upstairs with her when she went to put on her wraps before going home, and she took the opportunity to ask Mary if she had known Mr. Livingston long.

"Why, no," replied Mary, almost so awestruck, "I never saw him until last summer."

GASSED OVERSEAS SHELL SHOCKED and RHEUMATISM

Mr. F. M. Blagden, Monteville, Alta., writes:—"After three years' service overseas, I returned to Canada about a complete wreck. I had been gassed, and was suffering from shell shock and rheumatism, and so nervous I could not sleep at night. I tried many medicines and doctors, but none of them did me any good for any length of time. I got so bad, in the Fall of 1919, my hands were so shaky I could scarcely hold anything, and it seemed as if I had a steel hand. Rheumatism would almost drive me into fits, and my whole system seemed to be in disorder. I had cramps in my legs nearly every night, and hot and cold chills running up and down my back nearly all the time. One day I decided to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and after I had taken six boxes I began to feel better. I kept on using them and after a while I was completely relieved."

Spanish Police Learn Jiu Jitsu

Jap System of Self-Defence Taught by German Instructor

A German policeman has just finished giving instruction in Jiu Jitsu, the Japanese method of self-protection to guardians of the public order in Spain. Herr Wenz of the Berlin criminal police department returned recently from the engagement for a brief visit home. Having established a reputation in Berlin as a police instructor, especially in Jiu Jitsu, Wenz's services were "borrowed" by the Spanish authorities. His commission included the development of police Jiu Jitsu teachers at Barcelona and instruction looking toward the establishment of a Jiu Jitsu squad in Madrid.

Victims of Lynch Law

Many Punished in States Without Any Discoverable Reason

During the thirty-three years since 1858, eighty-three women have been lynched in the United States. Of these, seventeen were of Caucasian blood. Mississippi leads the list with fifteen instances. Texas comes next with ten, and Alabama third with nine. Many of these disgraceful episodes have been based on the charge of murder, but in a surprising number no reason has been discoverable. In the same period of time the total number of victims of lynch law was 2,425 of whom white men and women numbered 315. An attempt is being made to enroll a nation women among the "Anti-lynching Crusaders" who will seek to create public sentiment throughout the country against this most abhorrent of all the examples of mob violence. The organization will also support the Dyer Anti-lynching Bill in Congress.

All Night with Asthma. Everyone knows how attacks of asthma often keep their victims awake the whole night long. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy, which positively does drive away the attacks.

Warning From Von Hindenburg

The speech made by Field Marshal von Hindenburg, on his seventy-fifth birthday, is to be noted. "We must, above all," he said, "have men who know well how to exploit the possibilities of foreign policy." There could be no clearer warning that Germany will make mischief if it is discovered in the future.

One Ray of Joy

"And what kind of a filling do you want, my little man?" asked a kindly dentist of a small boy who had been suffering a dozen martyrdoms in the chair. "I was the first cheerful word the boy had heard for an hour." "Change chocolate," he replied, brightening visibly.—American Legion Weekly.

Could Not Eat

Constipation is caused by a torpid condition of the liver. Dressing with salts, castor oil, etc., to move the bowels, cannot afford more than temporary relief.

If you are to rid yourself of this ailment and the scores of annoying symptoms and diseases which come in its wake, it is necessary to get the liver right by such treatment as is suggested in this letter:

Mrs. Alvin Richards, R. R. No. 1, Seelye's Bay, Ont., writes:

"For two years I was afflicted with indigestion, and in the morning when I got up my head was bad. I had a poor appetite, and just felt like eating certain foods. I used many different medicines as a laxative without benefit, and the doctor's medicine did not help me at all. Finally I tried Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and found them better than anything I had ever tried. I can highly recommend them to anyone troubled with constipation or kidney troubles."

World's Huge Gold Production

Over Eight Hundred Million Fine Ounces in 1920

Eight hundred and seventy-five million fine ounces of gold, valued at $18,000,000,000 have been produced by the world since Columbus discovered America. About $8,000,000,000 are in circulation as money or in the banks and public treasuries of the world—$2,000,000,000 in the United States Treasury. The other $8,000,000,000 worth of gold has been used up in the industrial arts or has disappeared in the 12 years since the keeping of accurate gold statistics began.

High Praise

"Tanlac has restored me to my old, efficient health. I can now do all I want to do. It is a wonderful medicine. I have taken it for two months with marked results. I am up in a second, and I am as strong as ever."

This complaint statement was given by Mrs. Vivian Angela Short, a resident of 2170, 4th Ave., Calgary. Mrs. Short has had an exceptional education and high position.

She has traveled extensively, having been practically all over the world. She lived in London and Paris several years and has visited Singapore, Hong Kong, and Japan.

"About a year ago," said Mrs. Short, "I was attacked by neuritis, it caused terrific pain in my joints, muscles, arms and shoulders. I was unable to do my work. I was so weak and often my joints would be painfully swollen. I could not walk, every attempt causing me perfect agony and I was unable to rest day or night."

"On the third day of my illness I began taking Tanlac. Within two weeks I was so much improved I was able to walk about the house. I took four bottles, and at present I am totally free from any trace of my old malady. I will always feel that I am deeply indebted to Tanlac."
